

Advocacy and State Alcohol Control Boards

A Vital Component in a Community's Efforts to Preventing Underage Drinking

Project Extra Mile

Diane Riibe

Erin Baum

Overview

- What is Project Extra Mile?
- Why is citizen involvement needed to address liquor licensing and alcohol control policies?
- How do we work with, or partner with, our state alcohol control board?
- How can ordinary citizens and coalitions become more involved in the licensing process?

Project Extra Mile

- Network of community coalitions across Nebraska covering 50% of population
- Single focus on underage drinking prevention – illegal, unhealthy, unacceptable
- Began in 1995 in the Omaha area – now primarily funded under EUDL program

Identified Areas of Focus

- Policy initiatives
- Enforcement collaborations
- Use of media advocacy
- Education and awareness efforts, including targeted campaign
- Involvement of youth

Citizen Involvement

Why Is It Important?

- Helps provide a balance between profit and business interests and public health
- Opportunities to address numerous alcohol control policies that affect underage drinking
- Liquor license increase associated with violence, drunk driving and other neighborhood problems
- Enhances dialogue and cooperation between local elected officials and state
- Impacts what your communities look like

Our Involvement

The Early Days. . . .

- 1997: Collaborated with 7 Omaha metro law enforcement agencies to coordinate the first multi-agency compliance checks
- Over the past 10 years we have
 - Coordinated collaborative compliance check efforts, including the recruitment of youth who conduct the checks
 - Prepared for administrative hearings, working closely with the Liquor Control Commission staff
 - Followed-up and recorded all Liquor Control Commission penalties to distribute to coalitions statewide
 - Seen the non-compliant rate decrease from 41% in 1997 to 7% in 2007

Compliance Check Results

Project Extra Mile Alcohol Compliance Checks Douglas & Sarpy Counties

Our Involvement

The Early Days. . . .

- Shortly after, the coalition advocated for a law restricting retailers' ability to "buy out" of suspensions 🦋
- The coalition also worked to double the length of suspension for licensees with multiple sale to minor violations

Our Involvement

New Alcohol Products

Source: USA Today

- Zippers Gelatin Shots
- Alcohol Without Liquid (AWOL) Device
- Flavored Alcoholic Beverages

Our Involvement

Flavored Alcoholic Beverages

- Utilized a resolution of support to urge classification of the products as distilled spirits
- Approached municipalities and others across the state
- Gathered over 700 resolutions in Nebraska
- Received substantial media coverage of the issue

Our Involvement

Flavored Alcoholic Beverages

October 2006 News Conference
State Capitol - Lincoln, NE

- October 2006: Project Extra Mile and a parent filed a lawsuit against the Nebraska Liquor Control Commission
- April 2007: The district court ruled that Project Extra Mile/parent have standing and the suit will move forward

Our Involvement

Youth

Students preparing to walk to Capitol after attending commission hearings – April 2007

- During youth legislative day, over 40 students attended commission hearings
- Youth group members often participate in compliance checks and provide testimony at the commission

Our Involvement

Sales to Minors

- Revocation of liquor licenses when death or serious injury occur following a sale to a minor
- Monitor sale to minor violations and penalties
 - Inconsistencies in penalties for sales to intoxicated
- Worked to pass Dram Shop and Social Host Liability Legislation in 2007

Our Involvement

Neighborhood Associations

- Orchard Hill Neighborhood
- Joslyn Castle Neighborhood
- Staff provides technical assistance on licensing issues
- Looking for additional ways to reach all neighborhood associations in the Omaha metro area

Working to Overcome Challenges

- License revocation is extremely rare and alcohol sales continue throughout the appeal process
- Many local governing bodies are not engaged in the process of licensing
- Penalty guidelines in Nebraska don't take injury or death into account
- Significant increase in licenses over the past 5 years

Source: Kearney Hub Newspaper

Coalition Involvement

- Learn about the structure of the administrative agency
 - Control vs. licensure state
- Develop relationships with the director and staff
- Invite a commissioner or board member and/or the director to speak at a coalition meeting
- Identify priorities/opportunities for change
- Attend hearings regularly to get more than just a snapshot of the process
- Review the penalty guidelines for youth alcohol violations and monitor how they are applied
- Provide community support to liquor law enforcement officers
 - Adequate staffing

What Are Other States Doing?

- Examples from a Control State:
New Hampshire Liquor Commission
 - Community Partnerships
 - “Buyers Beware” Campaign to Address Social Providers
 - Enforcement Efforts

Resources

- Alcohol & Tobacco Tax and Trade Bureau

Links to Alcohol Beverage Control Boards:

http://www.ttb.gov/wine/control_board.shtml

- How Alcohol Outlets Affect Neighborhood Violence

<http://resources.prev.org/documents/AlcoholViolenceGruenewald.pdf>

- Reducing Underage Drinking:

A Collective Responsibility

www.national-academies.org

A small group of thoughtful people could change the world.

Indeed, it's the only thing that ever has.

-Margaret Mead

Questions and Answers

Project Extra Mile

11606 Nicholas Street

Omaha, NE 68154

(402) 963-9047

info@projectextramile.org

www.projectextramile.org